Mother's Day

NEARLY everybody in the United States will join in the celebration of Mother's Day, which occurs on the second Sunday of May.

We hope that the people of Hancock county will reflect upon the debt they owe, as individuals, to their mothers and pay tribute to the loving service that had much to do with making them human beings.

In observance of the special day there is no use to become foolish. Let us recognize that there is no miracle that lightens the load of care or the burden of worry that weighs down the average mother. To be good mothers they have to give up many of the pleasures that life offers and their unselfishness is consequently more notable.

We hope that all living mothers, for one day, at least, will be happy in the thought that their children honor and love them and they will be remembered, as they should, by their scattered family group.

For mothers who have passed on, there is nothing that we can do, but their sons and daughters should not fail to recall their memories and pay tribute to their goodness.

C. C. C. MILITARY TRAINING.

WE have often heard expressions of opinion to the effect that the Civilian Conservation Corps should include preliminary training to fit its members for military service.

General Marshall, Chief of Staff, United States Army, takes an opposite view, saying the CCC is "much more valuable" as a non-combatant service than as a potential military organization.

"ANY TWO OF THEM"

WILLIAM S. Knudsen, director of the Office of Production Management, is not pessimistic about the ability of industry to provide what the nation requires for its successful defense.

He insists that we have more productive capacity than "any two countries in Europe that you can mention" and while he doesn't know whether we can supply the whole world with armaments, he is sure that "we can take on any two of them after we get started."

WHY READ?

WHY learn to read? This sounds like a silly question but there are so many people who seldom seek to expand their mental vision through the simple process of reading a book.

With public libraries available, there is no need for an individual to go to any unnecessary expense to become informed. For a few cents, or less, a volume can be secured upon almost any subject that interests the individual.

It is not necessary to use big space when you advertise in The Sea Coast Echo. Just a few lines will be read; you read this, didn't you?

The first census of Mississippi was taken in 1800 and showed a population of 8,850. 1250 of these lived in what is now Alabama. The census of 1920 showed Mississippi had decreased in population. But by 1930 the population had passed 2,000,000. The final figures for the 1940 census gives Mississippi a population of 2,183,796, or an increase of 173,975 since the 1930 census.

H. M. Morse, State Oil and Gas Supervisor of Mississippi, has published his production report for March, 1941. In his report Mr. Morse shows that during March the Tinsley Oil Field produced 584,679 barrels of oil and the Vaughan-Pickens Field produced 20,958 barrels. In the Tinsley Field there are now 146 producing wells, and four producing wells in the Vaughan-Pickens Field. Since both fields were brought in they have produced 6,354,189 barrels of oil from 150 wells.

The State Game and Fish Commission issues the following warning to fishermen using boats: "Care should be taken to prevent tragic accidents. Inspect carefully all boats before using them. Have sufficient life preservers. See that the boat is sturdy and safe and is suitable for the type motor you have, if one is used. Shotguns or rifles should not be carried in boats. Do not overload the boat." If these rules are observed it will save many a life in Mississippi.

Lieutenant M. A. Williams, of Florida, Quartermaster Corps, U. S. Army; E. L. Turner, Marketing Specialist Office Production Management; S. W. Box, Extension Department of State College, and Si Corley, Commissioner of Agriculture, have opened an office in Hattiesburg for the purchase of all kinds of farm produce for use at Camp Shelby. All county farm agents in the state will cooperate by keeping a check on what is for sale in their respective counties, and will keep the Hattiesburg office advised. Due to the many army cantinments, and the shipment of food to England, farmers of Mississippi will make no mistake in raising all possible food for man and beast, for they will be able to sell all they can raise at a reasonable price.

STATE BAND CONTESTS.

THE State Band Contests are becoming one of the most outstanding events in the state. During the past two week-ends, bands from 68 schools in the state have competed in these contests this year—14 from Class A schools, 14 from Class B schools, 26 from Class C schools, and 14 from Class D schools, with our own Bay High School and St. Stanislaus College participating. 4,159 students participated in these contests. In addition to the participants, it is estimated that five or six thousand teachers, patrons and other interested students visited Jackson to observe the contests.

The state committee in charge of these contests are: Superintendent E. Frank Brown, Gulfport, Chairman; Mr. J. L. McCaskill, Meridian, Secretary-Manager; Superintendent J. M. Smyth, Canton; Mr. A. E. Cornelius, Columbus, and Mr. Frank Hurd, Natchez. The judges were men of outstanding ability and leadership in the music field of the nation. The judges and the committee were very high in their praise of the work being done in Mississippi in this field.

On May 15, 16 and 17, a Regional Contest will be held in which the bands making superior rating in the states of Arkansas, Louisiana, Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee, and Kentucky will participate. This should be a very fine opportunity for the people of Jackson and Mississippi to observe the finest bands in the six states named above.

Congratulations are due the school people and citizens of the states for the very fine cooperation and the efforts they are putting forth to make this type of training possible for our youth. We feel that this is a very important part of school work.

AIRCRAFT PROSPECTS ARE ENCOURAGING.

ROBERT A. Lovett, assistant secretary of war for aviation, is enthusiastic about the development of American airplanes. He says "good stuff is on the way with a fire power more than adequate."

Mr. Lovett, announced, more than a week ago, that while the "P47" is the latest type of pursuit plane generally known—and so new that it has not been officially accepted—he has seen sixteen later models.

In time, we believe, the people of the United States will be amazed and enthused by the record that is being made in the production of aircraft. Despite bottlenecks, caused by a shortage of aluminum and propellers, work on fighting aircraft is far ahead of schedule.

LUDWIG'S PRIVILEGE.

IT IS worth noting that Emil Ludwig, the great German historian, now living in the United States, has volunteered his services to the government of the United States at $1 per year.

He will do special work among foreign-language groups in connection with the defense savings program.

Mr. Ludwig says that "When one realizes what a tremendous privilege it is to be a citizen of the United States, it is a small matter for an individual to offer his very best to any cause which is devoted to the defense of democratic ideals."

It might be a good idea for some Americans to understand the privilege that Mr. Ludwig praises and for which he is willing to volunteer his services.

GREECE WILL LIVE.

THE fate of Greece, defeated by the combined power of Italy and Germany, should not be needlessly deplored.

The Greek race, throughout the world, holds its head high. Once more the soldiers of the tiny nation have demonstrated their worthiness of great ancestors and have placed humanity in their debt through the example that they have set for other free men to emulate.

No reproach exists for the armies of Greece. Their heroic struggle against overwhelming odds has added glory to an illustrious history. In the better days that are to come there will be a new Greece, with the honor and respect of mankind.

WEYGAND WILL FIGHT.

THIS is interesting, in view of reports that the Nazis may have plans that include the occupation of French territory in Africa. If Gen. Weygand makes good his statement, in such an event, it is likely that Hitler will think twice before adding to his active foes.

General Maxime Weygand, commander of French forces in North Africa, says that the war has entered a "grave phase," but insists that he is determined to defend his territory against any invader.

BRITISH BATTLESHIPS.

A LONDON dispatch says that the British have commissioned the second, new 35,000-ton battleship and British newspapers indicate that the British navy will soon be reinforced by five new battleships of this type.

Several years before the war, after the expiration of the naval limitation treaties, the British projected a fleet of five new battleships, to have a speed of 30 knots and to carry ten 14-inch guns. The keels of two of these ships were laid on January 1, 1937, the day after the naval treaties expired, and since then, other ships have been under construction.

Senator Pat Harrison announces that he will not be able to return to Washington to actively direct the work of the new tax program. His physicians advise the senator to continue to rest so that he will regain his full strength before returning to the capitol. Senator Harrison is simply worn out from overwork and he has at last consented to follow his doctor's advice—something he has refused to do in the past. His region of Mississippi friends will be glad to know that the senator has decided to take no further chances with his health and follow instructions of his physician. Vicksburg Post.

THEY EMBRACED DEATH.
(Biloxi Herald)

ONE who sympathizes with the Yugoslavs and Greeks in their unequal and desperate struggle for existence as a State, must feel an intense pity for those pilots who, in old planes loaded with dynamite plunged suicidally into the advance German tanks, taking them as companions in death. They made the supreme sacrifice for their country and in conformity with the spirit which impelled them to resist the Great German power.

They embraced physical death to save from political death their nation. Indeed, it was much like the patriot Arnold Winkelstein, who, facing the solid ranks of bayonets of the enemy, in order to make a breach for his companions to enter, rushed forward and gathered in his arms as many of the bayonets as he could grasp. They all went into his breast, but he made the breach.

It will require years of time and many volumes to record individual and group acts of heroism performed in Norway, Holland, Belgium, Poland, France, Yugoslavia and Greece in this war which ought to be called The War to Extinguish Liberty; but their brave surviving companions owe it to them, to their posterity, and to their nations to garner these precious stories of martyred heroes who gave all they had for their native land.

As to many of these heroes, for the present, we only can quote from the "Elegy": "Perhaps in this neglected spot is laid A soul once pregnant with celestial fire."

Whose hand the rod of empire ne'er had swayed, But in exalted ecstasy touched a celestial lyre."

SOUTHERN CATHOLICS
(Birmingham News)

BIRMINGHAM is honored in being host to the Catholic Committee of the South in its first regular convention following the organization meeting a year ago in Atlanta. The three-day convention of Catholic leaders should be productive of good to Birmingham and all the rest of the South.

There is widespread realization these days that the major problems of the world cannot be solved without application of principles accepted by all the great Christian faiths. Democracy is little more than Christianity applied to the political arena. The great freedoms for which men are now fighting and dying in Europe are in most cases freedoms which grew out of or have been encouraged by Christianity.

There are special problems of mankind in the South. There are social difficulties here which are peculiar to this section. There are troublesome questions revolving about the Negro, farm tenancy, education and other matters. The South has peculiar phases of such general questions as labor and industry, population, movements, social welfare and many others.

It is well that these difficulties are being studied by persons with a religious point of view. For better it is when the emphasis of civilization is approach-

Hollywood Echoes.

FOLLOWING the successful completion by Walt Disney of "The Reluctant Dragon," in which actors were combined with cartoons, Disney and Samuel Goldwyn have decided to film "The Life and Stories of Hans Christian Andersen," in a similar manner, with Gary Cooper portraying the role of Andersen.

Raymond Massey will have the role of King Cudde, head of the Key West pirate gang in Cecil B. De Mille's production of "Reap the Wild Wind." Massey, who is at present appearing in Katherine Cornell's "The Doctor's Dilemma," will leave the stage company on May 21 to join the Paramount troupe.

With the announcement that Cary Grant will be seen in the role of Sheridan Whiteside, the acid hero of "The Man Who Came to Dinner," it is evident that the screen hero will be considerably younger than the venerable gent familiar to those who have seen the Monty Woolley-Alexander-Woodcock-Clifferton Webb characterizations.

Contrary to the usual proceedings, Hedy Lamarr declares she is under suspension by Metro and Metro insists she is not. However, Miss Lamarr insists that she will not return to the studio until she gets a raise in pay from her present $750 to $1,000 a week and a promise of better roles.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation will furnish the material for The March of Time's next production, under the title "FBI 1941." The film dramatizes the bureau's role in the national defense program, preventing and intercepting espionage and sabotage, being a re-enactment by agents of the bureau of the conclusion of an actual case in the Department's files.

Ann Harding and Gloria Swanson well known by the older film fans, were recently tested for roles in forthcoming films. Miss Harding was tested by Metro for the role of Ma Baxter in "The Yearling," and Miss Swanson by RKO for the part opposite Adolphe Menjou in "Father Takes a Wife."

James Cagney is turning song and dance man. He's to have the title role in Warner's forthcoming film biography of George M. Cohan. This isn't as much of a metamorphosis as one might imagine, for before his Hollywood appearance as a "tough guy," he was a Broadway chorus boy, dancing and singing for ed by people with religion than by those without religion. And when those questions are tackled in the spirit of tolerance and sympathy and understanding which truly reflect Christianity, then there is hope for something like a permanent solution.

"The South, the Nation's Promise," as the theme of the convention, presents a fitting conception of the place of the South in the nation's life. The South has been called by cynics the "Bible belt." It is for just that reason, among others, that the South is the nation's promise. To the extent that the South retains those characteristics which give it the name of the Bible belt, the South will be able to maintain its promise of being the chief defender of those principles upon which the nation was and is founded.

MAJOR-General Thomas J. Grayson, State Director of the Selective Service, says: "It is the duty of every registrant to keep his local board advised at all times of the address at which mail will reach him without delay." Major-General Grayson cites that Selective service regulations provide that the punishment for failure to conform to the regulations provides for "imprisonment for not more than five years or a fine of not more than $10,000, or by both such fine and imprisonment."

The Mississippi Farm Research bulletin issued from the Mississippi Agricultural Experiment Station, at State College, in its April issue, gives some statistics that should receive more careful consideration. Foremost among the figures given is the farm cash income in Mississippi has steadily declined. The 1940 cash income for Mississippi farmers was 147 million dollars, or a decrease of 24 per cent over 1939. The average income per farm in this State for 1940 was given by the bulletin as $505.50, divided $322.50 from marketing, and $183.00 from government payments.

During this month (May) Greek Relief organizations in Mississippi, and throughout the nation, will launch a drive to secure funds for war relief in Greece. Each employed Greek in the State will contribute one-half of a week's salary to this fund, while Greek business establish-

A joint meeting of the Ozark and Gulf States Sections of the Society of American Foresters will be held at Greenville, Miss., and the Delta Experiment Station, at Stoneville, on May 16th and 17th, according to an announcement by the Arrangements Committee of both sections.

In 1939 Mississippi ranked fifth in production in the United States; third in hardwood production; and sixth in soft wood production. In the production of yellow pine Mississippi ranked third; second in sycamore production; second in hickory production, and second in cottonwood production.

STRAWBERRY BLONDE TAKES OVER AT THE A. & G. THEATER, 11-12

A film with a warm, human story starring James Cagney and Olivia de Havilland called "The Strawberry Blonde" will make its local debut at the A. & G. Theater, Sunday and Monday. Cagney is cast as a simple fellow who doesn't go around seeking people (in fact, he finds out what it means to be on the receiving end of a right hook for a change), who doesn't howl over the girl with his glib charm and who doesn't want to blast his way to the top of anything. All he would like to do is become a darn good dentist. It is a different Cagney—a Cagney that will win millions of new admirers.

Vivacious Olivia and sparkling Rita Hayworth are the two women in Cagney's uncomplicated life (that is, uncomplicated until they come into it).

He falls in love with Rita but marries Olivia on the rebound when Rita runs off with the local boy who made good played by Jack Carson. After many years of happily married life, Cagney realizes he married the right woman after all because Rita turns out to be a querulous, complaining woman, who makes life miserable for her husband despite his wealth.

The story is told in flashback style, starting one afternoon when Carson walks into Cagney's office to have his teeth extracted and while he is under the effects of the gas, the tale takes us back several years to the time when Cagney was all ambition and two-seater bicycles were all the rage. The plot gradually unfolds tell-

Attention To Fishermen, Towboat Men, Marine Salvage Men.

The Navy Department has authorized the establishment of a new class of enlisted personnel in the Merchant Marine Naval Reserve. This class will be composed of experienced maritime men who would be available to the Navy in case of National Emergency or War. Men enlisted in this class of the Merchant Marine Naval Reserve would continue their normal occupations until called and are exempt from military selection service.

Men who are familiar with trawler type vessels, diesel engine men and marine salvage men are especially desirable. The commandant of this Eighth Naval District believes that there are none better to guard our coasts than the Loyal American Seamen living along our Gulf Coast.

Only a limited number of Merchant Marine Naval Reservists of Class M2 will be enlisted at this time. All able-bodied seamen who desire to serve their country in time of National Emergency or War are urged to enlist now. Enlistments can be made at Merchant Marine Naval Reserve Recruiting Office, 829 Camp Street, New Orleans, La.; Post Office, Port Arthur, Texas; or M & M Bldg., Houston, Texas. A recruiting party will also visit Bay St. Louis soon.

Unusual High Wind And Tide During Monday and Tuesday.

Bay St. Louis and Waveland and the seawall from Lakeshore up were lashed with strong winds and subsequent high and rough tides which swept large waves over the seawall and dashed spray upon automobiles to and from these points on Monday and Tuesday. The consequent high tides curtailed the continuance of work on the seawall and pumping of sand which began a short time ago at the head of St. Charles street and South Beach, and caused owners of skiffs and small craft to beach their boats to avoid damage or loss. However, by Tuesday the wind had subsided and was followed by light rains which were welcomed as a long period of dry weather and lack of rainfall had ended.

MOTHER'S DAY

Once again 'tis "Mother's Day"—And I, a white rose, wear this day, I know you're at peace and happy up there, So why should I selfishly wish you back here? And that you are many miles far away, Who needs a reminder, called "Mother's Day?" But, I send you these lines, with my deepest love—To the sweetest of Mothers, way up above!

—LITA L. MORRILL

Bay St. Louis, Miss., May 11, 1941.

Fing a story packed with drama and humor. Throughout it all is sprinkled the charm of the Gay Nineties—its old songs, sayings and customs. "The Strawberry Blonde" was written by Julius J. and Philip G. Epstein from a play by James Hagan. Raoul Walsh directed the production.

Congressional Sidelights

by Congressman Wm. M. Colmer

Defense Strikes Legislation.

THE much discussed, and highly controversial, Vinson Bill, which has been heralded in the public press as an answer to the defense strikes has been given the right-of-way by the House Rules Committee for consideration upon the floor of the House. The temper of the Congress on this subject may best be judged by the fact that the bill was reported out of the Naval Affairs Committee and out of the Rules Committee over the opposition of both the C. I. O. and the A. F. of L., as well as the Administration. However, in order to make this possible it was necessary for the author to agree to offer amendments when the bill reached the floor of the House that would eliminate several controversial provisions of the bill. With these provisions eliminated the only thing left would be a temporary cooling off period. If the bill as written should become law it would provide merely that no strike could be called in an industry having defense contracts without giving twenty-five days notice of such intention to strike.

While the bill has been given the green light, the prospects for its enactment are uncertain. The administration has opposed from the beginning any strike legislation, and there is a possibility that, through its leaders in Congress, it will simply hold the Vinson bill over the heads of labor as a threat.

Boom Town.

Perhaps no other city of its size ever enjoyed such a boom as is raging here now. The 1940 Census showed 663,091 people in Washington, and 907,816 in the metropolitan area, an increase of 46 percent since 1930. And still it grows. The Washington Board of Trade estimates that the defense program has brought an additional 55,000 employees within the last year and that another 26,000 are expected by July 1, 1941, many of whom have families. Added to this is a constant stream of sightseers and of people seeking contracts with the Government. One sightseeing guide told me the other day that he was turning in $275 a day from his one stand and had been doing so for eight weeks. The hotels are full, living space is at a premium, and the traffic is terrible. This has also, as one might expect, added tremendously to the already high cost of living in the nation's Capital.

Well Fed

According to the Food Unit Division of the Office of Production Management, the American soldier is better fed than any other fighting man in the world. Under the rationing system, every soldier receives 5,000 calories per day. The daily food allowance is 43 cents per soldier, and 49 cents for a meal per soldier, or 74 cents under the Food Stamp plan, for the 15 or 20 million people on relief, and is higher than that of at least sixty percent of the population of the U. S.

A partial list of the daily quantities of food used by the Army is as follows: 1,000,000 lbs. of meat; 60,000 lbs. of potatoes; 500,000 lbs. of fresh fruit; 110,000 lbs. of coffee; 125,000 lbs. of butter; 700,000 qts. of milk; and $50,000 worth of bread.

Tax Bill.

The Administration's Tax Bill is slowly but surely taking form in the House Ways and Means Committee where it is being considered. The task of raising an additional three and one half billion dollars annually is no easy one because of the already heavy taxes imposed upon the usual sources of raising revenue. Many plans are under consideration, including of course a sharp increase in the rates on income taxes. Present plans call for lowering the brackets to include taxes on incomes even as low as $1,000, with a sharp increase in the rates on all incomes above that. It would be unsafe to predict now just what form the tax bill will finally take, but it is safe to predict that the American people in all walks of life will keenly feel the cost of the defense program. And the American taxpayers will become conscious as they never have heretofore that guns, ammunition, tanks, planes and war ships cost money. But the question of whether these sinews of preparedness are necessary is not now a debatable question. We believe that all liberty loving Americans are convinced that regardless of the cost it is necessary for this country to be prepared to meet any eventuality.

MAINTAINING Telephone Service Standards

As America grids for national defense, the Southern Bell Company's aim is not only to meet the increasing telephone demands of government and industry, but to continue rendering high quality service to the individual user.

Despite the necessity for training numerous new employees, and caring for a record increase in telephone volume and volume of calls, the service has generally continued at a high standard.

Telephone men and women are continuing to furnish friendly, helpful and technically efficient service. These trained and experienced workers and their management are accustomed to working together and to planning ahead under conditions imposed by emergencies.

The workers, while meeting the rapidly expanding defense telephone requirements, are caring for the needs of the individual user in every way they can under existing conditions.

The telephone organization is doing its best to see that during these times of national emergency you continue to derive the greatest possible advantages from your use of service.

ORTTE'S THEATER TO SHOW SPRING PARADE SUN-MONDAY

Scene of this eighth and different

Deanna Durbin vehicle is the Old

Vienna of Franz Josef and waltz

monarchal grandeur and plebeian contentment, a place and a time recreated to the letter and spirit by the art director, Jack Otterson, in settings surpassing all past distinguished precedents. Against these

Miss Durbin and a support matching her lead, phrase for phrase and line

for line, play out a romantic adventure utilizing song and dance but not dominated by them, a story that moves at a smart pace and with deviations only for light humor, and mild pathos from pastoral start to palatial end.

Miss Durbin sings four songs in the picture, all in the lighter and pleasanter manner, three by the Robert Stolz, who composed "Two Hearts in Three Quarter Time," and one by Hans Salter, Gus Kahn supplying lyrics for all. This would be news to tell the customers in exploitation, also the tidings that in this venture Miss Durbin goes in for dancing and extends her employment of humor as entertainment material.

Direction by Henry Koster and production by Joseph Pasternak are on a par with their past accomplishments. Like its predecessors, the film has the steady tempo and sustained movement, the deft touches and the novel slide lights, which have set the Durbin films apart from others.

The cast includes: Ilonka Tolnay,

Deanna Durbin; Harry Martin, Robert Cummings; Gustav, Mischa Auer.

MISS EMMA LOU STOKOE

MARRIES.

Miss Emma Lou Stokoe, of Gulfport, and formerly of Bay St. Louis, daughter of Mrs. A. L. Stokoe and the late Mr. Stokoe, and C. W. Peterson of Little Rock, Ark., were married Sunday in the Baptist Church of Little Rock. The bride is a graduate of Perkins Junior College and attended Mississippi Woman's College, Hattiesburg. She has been employed by the government in Little Rock. Mr. Peterson holds a responsible position with the Saway-

Company. Mr. and Mrs. Peterson

will reside in Little Rock.

SEEKING DEFENSE PROJECT FOR COUNTY.

Clerk of the Courts A. G. Favre, returned home from Washington a few days ago, where he went to further a project of the probability of having the federal government establishing a bombing range in Hancock county. With Representative

Colmer and Senator Bilbo he visited

"the powers to be" and returned optimistic over the prospect of success of his visit. He has been very active in the cause and leaving no

stone unturned and if it is possible to get this defense project here, he and his associates will get it.

FINE POTATOES GROWN HERE.

The editor is in receipt of some fine new "red" Irish potatoes grown by Mrs. E. Boudin, on her farm on Third and Washington street. Mrs.

Boudin says she planted 100 pounds of seed potatoes and so far has dug over 3000 pounds, some weighing as much as a pound apiece. They were grown under peach trees, and fertilized with 4-8-4 and cotton-seed meal.

The Echo appreciates Mrs. Boudin's thoughtfulness and hopes she will continue to succeed with other crops planted.

MRS. HARRY C. GLOVER

ENTERTAINS AT PARTY FOR

MRS. C. G. MOREAU.

Mrs. Harry C. Glover entertained

handsomely Thursday of last week, complimenting Mrs. Charles C. G.

Moreau on the occasion of her departure Monday morning for California.

A luncheon-bridge of two tables proved a memorable event. In addition to the hostess and the honoree

there were present Mrs. John W.

Bryan, Mrs. George E. Pitcher, Mrs.

Hugh P. Burbank, Mrs. Clemence

Jaubert-Chatwick, Mrs. Edouard C.

Carriere, Mrs. N. M. Dick.

This lovely affair was held at Mrs.

Alice C. Buckley's party tea room on Waveland beach. Cut spring flowers served as the decoration.

Mrs. Glover presented Mrs. Moreau with a dainty and beautiful goingaway present. The honoree's corsage bouquet was of unusually attractive pink roses effectively combined.

MRS. C. J. CHADWICK

was hostess to a dinner party at Hotel Reed complimenting Mr. and Mrs. Charles G.

Moreau on the eve of their trip to the Pacific Coast. Beautiful "going away presents" were presented.

MRS. HUGH P. BURBANK

entertained

Sunday evening at her home on North Beach, boulevard at a large bridge-king party in compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Moreau as an "au resvoir party." Supper was served before the mid-night hour, when this lovely affair terminated.

MEMBERS OF BAY HIGH

ENTERTAINED WITH

DANCE TUESDAY.

Miss Wallace Catching entertained at a large dance at her home on

South Beach, boulevard on Tuesday evening honoring two popular members of the Bay High School's graduating class '41, the Misses Beryl

Bourgeois and Helene Kergosien, and with members of the class of '41 as guests.

The large home of Mr. and Mrs.

Catching was pretty throughout with a profusion of roses and spring flowers everywhere and with a huge centerpiece of pink snapdragons and blue salva on the pretty table with lace cover and handsome crystal bowl from which punch was served.

Music from a record player provided dance music for the evening and the party was one of the most enjoyable large parties given for members of the school set.
